2015 London, Gagosian Gallery, Henry Moore: Wunderkammer - Origin of Forms

More Information

This is the first exhibition to concentrate on Moore's maquette studio, with its marvellous accumulation of stones, bones, animal skulls and other found objects. Inside the gallery, curators have recreated Moore's studio: a compact, overflowing space where his richly inventive sculptural vocabulary had its origins. The exhibition is accompanied by a display of two monumental bronze works in nearby Berkeley Square. Curated by Richard Calvocoressi, Director of the Henry Moore Foundation. The exhibition is accompanied by a fully illustrated catalogue with a new essay by Richard Calvocoressi, and his discussion about Moore's Wunderkammer with artist Edmund de Waal.
