More Information
See comments on HMF 79(105)) and 79(109). A snake was one of the subjects Moore considered for the garden bench project; compare also LH 20, 45. , One of eight reworked photocopies from Moore's sketchbook. See 79(105). The original of this drawing of two snakes intertwined appears below that of a female reclining nude (HMF 639 r). In 1928 Moore was considering subjects for garden reliefs; a snake was a possible idea. A carving entitled Head of a Serpent LH 45 dates from 1927.
